Business experience

I've been self employed since around 2010 when I started my first E-Commerce business. I've bounced around from startups, freelancing, and running my own E-Com businesses for the past several years. The last 3-5 years has primarily been me in an outsourced CTO role, helping companies build teams and save/grow revenue by implementing technology – from VOIP Phone systems, to CRM's, ERP's, and warehouse fulfillment/tracking software.

Reason for buying

I think the opportunity to buy and shepherd an established legacy business is the single largest opportunity of my generation. Buying an established business to continue to maintain and grow a real legacy business within my community is a huge motivating factor for me.
